"Fatty" Williams crashed into the scoring column of the Southern Conference last Saturday when he fell on a blocked punt behind the Crimson Tide goal line for a touchdown. Williams played a superb game for the Wildcats in backing up the Kentucky line, which was completely demoralized by the absence of "Shipwreck" from the halfback post. Jake Bronston registered two touchdowns in the Clemson game when he captured two of Toth's aerial thrusts and scampered over the Tiger's goal line.

ADDRESSES CLUB

Graduate School Dean Talks
Before Relations Group on
"Some International Views of Science"

SPEAKER HEARD BY 100

The spirit of international fellowship engendered among the scientists of the nations of the world in the course of their work was cited by Dr. W. D. Funkhouser in an address on "Some International Aspects of Science" before a regular meeting of the International Relations Club of the University Tuesday night. Approximately 100 persons heard the scientist, who is the head of the zoology department and dean of the graduate school at the University. Mrs. Frank L. McVey presided.

The meeting was scheduled for Wednesday, but was moved up due to a conflict with the Association of University Women's banquet. Next Tuesday night Dean F. Paul Anderson will address the group on "The World Power," Mrs. D. H. Peak presiding.

In his address Tuesday night, Dr. Funkhouser stated that the cooperation internationally among the scientists of the pure sciences was necessary in the forwarding of their work. He said that he received recently 1,000 specimens of bugs from Germany, and has been asked to classify them, citing this example as the proofs of the code of ethics and trust which exists internationally among the workers in the field of science.

He stated that scientists must rely on the people of other nations in order to gain much of the knowledge which they possess. One obstacle in the path of scientific progress was described by the zoologist, this being the lack of an universal language.

P. O. BOXES ARE AVAILABLE

Saturday's Golden Anniversary of Dixie
Football Will Recall Memorable Events

By MARTIN R. GLENN

Many moons before the advent of collegiate flannels, galoshes, and yowlers, a handful of gallant and bewiskered gentlemen representing Centre and Transylvania Colleges matched brain and brawn on what is now the happy hunting ground of the Kentucky Wildcats. Nearly 50 years ago, April 9, 1880 to be exact, Captain Ernest, of the Centre Colonels, generalised a brilliant attack upon the valiant cohorts of J. L. Patterson, captain of the Transylvania Pioneers, but the Lexingtonians were victorious. It was the first exhibition of football south of the Mason and Dixon line.

A week after the first game was played on Stoll field, the Transylvania team went to Danville to play a return game with Centre. Again the Pioneers won, the score being five and one-half to one-half. The University, then known as the A. & M. College, used the field for football for the first time in the fall of 1880.

The Lexington Transcript of April 10, 1880, in commenting on the first game says: "A large crowd of ladies and gentlemen, estimated at 500, witnessed the game. It was pronounced that football had the decided advantage of baseball as a means of amusement for spectators."

This bold assertion of the now antiquated newspaper has surely come to pass and because of the rapid ascendancy of the popular sport, "Father" Lumpkin, former Georgia Tech, star, Bart Peak and Bill Hicks will officiate at the traditional feud on Stoll field Saturday afternoon.

That football was not looked upon with much favor during its period of adolescence is manifested by a story appearing in the Lexington Press of December 5, 1880, which says:

"On Tuesday evening, as some of the students of the A. & M. College were playing football, a man, who afterwards gave his name as White, came riding by, and not liking the noise the students were making,

A Pretty Sponsor

The charming young lady pictured above is Miss Laura Pettigrew, band sponsor par excellence at the University of Kentucky. Today, at 5:30 p. m., she leaves with the "Best Band in Dixie" for Lexington, Virginia, where she will give the crowd a treat at the Kentucky-V. M. I. game Saturday morning. Saturday afternoon she will appear with the band at the Washington and Lee-Virginia football game.

By LAURENCE SHROPSHIRE
With the breaking dawn Saturday morning, Field Marshal Harry Gamage will array his brawny Blue brigade of minutemen on the commons of Lexington, Va., there to await the charge of the Flying Squadron from Virginia Military Institute. Over levelled rifles, the Blue troops scan the skyline for traces of the Cadets and anxiously await the referee's whistle that will announce the "zero hour" of 10 o'clock and another conference battle.

Encamped deep in the enemy territory after an overnight journey, the University of Kentucky Wildcats will make final preparations this afternoon for the engagement, tapering off with a light workout under the direction of their leader and his staff. Scouts also report considerable action in the vicinity of the hostile camp as the Virginia militia mobilizes to repulse the invasion.

W. and L. Virginia Play
The Cadets and the 'Cats will cross arms during the morning hours. Later in the day, the gallant Washington and Lee Generals will make a last desperate stand in an effort to turn the tide of the great conference conflict, facing the University of Virginia Cavaliers on the same field. Many loyal followers of the Kentucky team remaining at the scene of the encounters will witness a action Virginia, the foe recently added to the Wildcat schedule.

While the team continues its conquest in foreign fields, thousands of patriots back in the Wildcat stronghold confidently await the result of the battle. Director Boles and his staff in the Kentucky war department have arranged for a leased wire to the front line and while courageous students cut classes, a play by report of the fortunes and failures of war will be diagrammed on the gridgraph in the gymnasium.

General Gamage will send his charges into the fray under the direction of Captain Covington, who has recovered from injuries received in the Centre skirmish. Other casualties in the Wildcat line-up are conspicuous by their absence. The defensive sector of the Kentucky team will be greatly strengthened by the reinforcement of the Phipps brothers who have sufficiently overcome their injuries to see service against the "kaydets." Ken Andrews, after a marvelous performance in the Alabama bombardment, will be depended upon to guard one flank while either Cavanaugh or Yates will be sent to the other boundary.

Colonel Shively, chief of staff, has will provided for the bulwark of the Wildcat defense with a stalwart line built around "Fatty" Williams at center. "Floppy" Ford and Joe Thompson at the guard outposts and Pete Drury and Babe Wright at tackles complete the main line of (Continued on page 8)

Pan Politikon
Plans to Study
British Empire

Pan Politikon, student organization for the study of foreign countries, has announced a comprehensive program for its study of the British empire during the next six weeks. Dr. Hamilton, eminent Canadian bacteriologist, who will address students December 12, will be among the principal speakers during this study.

Under the auspices of Pan Politikon, an exhibit of English artists has been brought to the University and is now being shown at the art center. Two vesper programs are to be in keeping with the study of Great Britain, one November 17, when Phi Beta presents numbers by British composers, and a second on December 1, which will be conducted by the University band.

Prof. Frank Fowler, director of the Guignol theater, will address students and people of Lexington, at 2 p. m., November 26, on "English Actors and Playwrights." Other members of the English department will devote at least one lecture period to a special study of Great Britain.

The departments of romance languages, physics, geology, political science, history, and the colleges of Education, Commerce, and Agriculture, will also devote special periods to this study according to Nicholas W. Williams, chairman of Pan Politikon. Further announcements concerning speakers will be made later, Mr. Williams said.

"Will the Present British
Labor-Liberal Coalition Survive?" Is Topic of Noted Educator

TARIFF IS DISCUSSED

"The present British Labor-Liberal Coalition will enjoy existence for a considerable period of time, but will reach its end at some future time when it is forced to deal with the inevitable 'land question,'" Dr. Marion M. Miller, noted educator, stated in his address before an assembly of senior engineers, meeting in Mechanical hall, at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. Doctor Miller took as his topic "Will the Present British Labor-Liberal Coalition Survive?" and delivered the second of his lectures on the Single Tax, which have been planned for the seniors Pan Politikon.

Doctor Miller opened his discussion by stating that there have been five administrations in England since the World War. This number may seem large, but when it is composed with the number of administrations which have had part in the government of other nations of Europe since the war, it is really small, he explained.

In his discussions of the different administrations, Doctor Miller stressed the importance of the work which Lloyd George, of the Liberal party, and Ramsay MacDonald, of the Labor party, have done in their efforts to meet conditions which have resulted from the war and from unemployment. He said that it is for the best interests of every country that the people should have work, rather than charity. The Labor party gained its power by its resolution to study the question of unemployment, Doctor Miller stated.

Doctor Miller discussed protective tariff and its relation to industry, saying that advocates of the protective tariff remind us that it makes industries, but that they say nothing of the industries which it kills. He said that the people should be able to find work on land and that the only tax which would be necessary would be a tax on land.

President Asks Students To Uphold Reputation of Good Sportsmanship

To Students of the University:
On November 16 at two o'clock the University of Kentucky welcomes to Stoll Field the college football teams of Centre and Transylvania. The occasion is the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the first football game played between these colleges. Noted alumni of the two institutions are to be present and a great occasion has been staged. The University is the host to the friends, well wishers and teams of the two institutions. It becomes a host to be partisan to one or the other of the two groups. The obligation of the host is to be fair in the distribution of applause. Let every play, no difference on which side, be applauded generously. Thus the students of the University actually do perform the part of the host on this interesting occasion and maintain their reputation for fairness and good sportsmanship. Any other attitude is impossible for ladies and gentlemen to take.
(Signed) Frank L. McVey, President.

DEBATERS FACE
FORENSIC MEETS

U. K. Teams to Take Negative
Side of the Question of Peace Through International Agreement

The University of Kentucky debating teams will participate in two meets this week. One team will journey to Richmond, this morning, where they will debate with the Berea College team. The subject for discussion will be "Resolved that World Peace Can Not Be Obtained by International Agreements."

James Porter, Kermit Pack, and Bruce Waters compose the team that will oppose Berea. William Pearce, Hugh Jackson, and Clifford Amxy will go to Huntington. Both of the University teams have the negative of the question. Prof. Sutherland, coach of the debaters, and the members of the team, are of the opinion that the entire debate will hinge around the economic scheme of things as they are now organized. The consensus of opinion is that "big business" and the "profit motive" were the root causes of international conflicts.

It is proposed that the nations draft a treaty by which they would all agree, that, in case of war, an embargo would be laid so that no economic assistance could be rendered by those not participating in the conflict. They would further agree by such a treaty that no one should be drafted to take part in a war which would be fought outside the boundaries of the respective countries. In case of conflict, all those men receiving large salaries would be compelled to turn over, for the purpose of paying for the cost of the war, all in excess of ten thousand dollars.

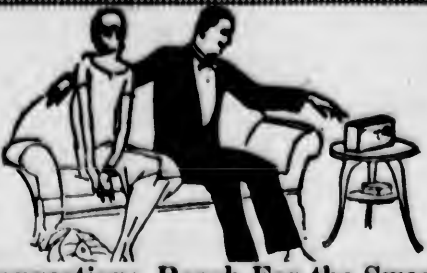

"The way to discourage big business from urging war, is to make it unprofitable," said Professor Sutherland.

In the early part of the fall the members of the debating team conducted a series of debates among themselves. This is the first time this year that they have engaged in intercollegiate work.

Gridgraph Will Be Given in Men's Gym

A play-by-play account of the Kentucky-V. M. I. football game will be given on the Gridgraph at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning, in the Men's gymnasium. Admission for students will be twenty-five cents with their ticket books.

The Gridgraph will be given in the forenoon. Saturday, because the Wildcats will play their game at Lexington, Va. In the morning so the Virginia Cavaliers can play Washington and Lee that afternoon on the same field.

A GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

A Golden Jubilee Anniversary of football in the south will be appropriately celebrated on Stoll field Saturday afternoon, when Centre and Transylvania College resume their traditional hostilities. The game will be marked by all the glamour of former years and will present a colorful spectacle of the friendly rivalry that has existed between the two colleges for half a century.

Fifty years ago these same institutions officially inaugurated the athletic relations on exactly the same playing field, then known as City Park. Vanderbilt and Sewanee have long claimed this distinctive honor but history reveals that the Centre-Transy tilt was staged several years prior to the Vanderbilt-Sewanee tussle.

Many modifications have been made in the rules of the game since its introduction south of the Mason and Dixon line, and it now rests on the uppermost rung of ascendancy in collegiate sportdom. Much credit is due to those pioneer gridiron warriors who gave to a small assemblage of spectators in Lexington their first taste of pig-skin entertainment.

The students of the University extend hearty congratulations to both institutions and sincerely welcome them to our campus. Such an exhibition will be of great historical value and will serve to promote chivalrous sportsmanship and better understanding among three of the foremost institutions in the state. Kentucky extends greetings and hospitality—may the best team win.

THE KAMPUS KAT

Annually and some times semi-annually there appears on the University campus a humorous parody on the newspaper. This paper that has become familiar to thousands of Kentucky students and alumni is called the Kampus Kat.

For good clean humor and wit it hasn't an equal in American colleges. In fact several years ago it was awarded the honor of being the best and cleanest college comic paper in the country.

The paper is published by the Kentucky chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary men's journalistic fraternity. The Kat will be sold on Thanksgiving Day in the downtown hotels, and at the Kentucky-Tennessee football game in the afternoon.

Support the idea of a humorous publication and maybe in time the Kat will blossom into a monthly humorous magazine, such as the Wisconsin Octopus or the Harvard Lampoon.

A QUIET ARMISTICE

Armistice celebrations this year bring to mind a thought of welcome portent; they bring a vision of conditions today, but more than that they emphasize the changes which have come about since that colossal epic of slaughter—the World War.

The first few years after the war, saw the people of America rejoicing over peace with the abandon of pagans. There were mammoth parades, stirring patriotic orations, and tearful prayers at the graves of the sons of the land "who gave their lives that this nation might live." The hysteria of war had left an indelible impression not to be erased by the first faltering flight of the years. But time, whose passing brings a soothing balm for wounds, whose edges raw will never heal, has laid kind hands on American hearts. Armistice has come to be a deep-rooted appreciation of peace.

"When earth as if on evil dreams
Looks back upon her wars
And the white light of Christ outstreams
From the red disc of Mars,
His fame, who led the stormy van
Of battle, well may cease;
But never that which crowns the man
Whose victory was peace."

PLAY FAIR

The department of intra-mural sports is an important and popular organization that sponsors campus athletics. Although it has only been in existence a few years, it has done much in creating amiable rivalries among campus organizations. It also has made large contributions towards development of athletic material for varsity teams.

Departmental officials conduct these athletic contests with fairness. Supervision of the events, as a whole, has been good. The first notable inefficiency in the officiating was demonstrated last Saturday afternoon in the cross-country run.

The trail that wound through the campus was not marked, and too few observers were stationed on the course. As a result many runners executed short cuts, some of the participants believing them to be correct routes and others intentionally doing so to shorten distance. Several runners who finished at the top should be disqualified for deviating from the prescribed course, but they made their cuts at points that were not visible to the too few officials.

This manner of play is indeed unfair to those who conformed to the rules of the race, and does not represent the type of athletics that the department sponsors.

We reiterate that the department of intra-mural sports staged the event with fairness and good intentions, but several of the entrants took advantage of the department's poor supervision and committed frauds which should be investigated.

THE COLLEGE OF LAW

This year in the history of the University of Kentucky is one that should long be remembered. It is not only a year which has evidenced a high degree of school spirit and honest loyalty, but it marks the threshold of a new era in the scholastic progress of the University. In many lines of endeavor, Kentucky's sons and daughters are establishing their preeminence and incidentally advertising a greater University of Kentucky. Conscious of a greater responsibility to the people of the state of Kentucky, the College of Law takes its place in the scale of progressive development.

So far as time is concerned, the College of Law of the University has but a limited history. The school was organized and opened for the admission of students in 1908, and the first class graduated in June 1910. At first a faculty of three members was ample to handle the enrollment. The present faculty of six full-time teachers is barely adequate to take care of the increasing classes.

The increased enrollment of the college of Law has not been made at the expense of scholastic standards. In keeping with the recommendations of the American Bar Association the educational requirements are being constantly raised. That the faculty is more scholarly than the ordinary is attested by the fact that two of its members belong to the Order of the Coif, the highest scholastic honor that is conferred in law schools. Recent contributions to legal publications over the country indicate that the faculty is concerning itself with many recent developments in their particular fields. The addition of a new course next year in the Law of the Air places the University on a par with some few of the older institutions of the country.

MUDDY WALKS

Time and again, especially on rainy days, there is grumbling on the part of the students wading their way to classes. And no wonder! The seemingly adamant walks on the campus become seas of mud at the first rainfall, and have become more than a mere petty annoyance to those who must wade through muck. We are expecting to see students resembling the players on the two football teams last Saturday week, when the real winter snows begin to fall.

Although this may seem a trivial subject to some, a remedy must be found if the suffering students are to be relieved. On a few of the walks new gravel has been sprinkled, but that is soon worn down to the white, powdery mixture which has such an affinity for water.

What is to be done? And when?

THETA SIGMA PHI

Much interest is being manifested in the local chapter of Theta Sigma Phi due to the recent initiation of ten young women.

This fraternity, which is the national honorary professional journalistic for women, was established at the University of Washington, April 8, 1909. During the past twenty years the organization has "united in the bonds of good fellowship" some three thousand women scattered all over the world. Active chapters have been established in thirty-three schools and departments of journalism, and alumna chapters have been organized in eighteen cities, representing every section of the United States.

Theta Sigma Phi maintains an employment agency, organized in 1918, through which hundreds of women have found positions. This agency has also completed several valuable surveys of the profession, bringing to light the achievements of women and pointing the way to new opportunities for them.

The Matrix, official bi-monthly publication of the fraternity, has a circulation of 1400. An award of $100 for the best article on "Women in Journalism" is offered annually by the national organization, and is designed to stimulate research into the opportunities, achievements, and status of women in journalism.

Theta Sigma Phi is, as can be seen, an active and progressive fraternity, and one which the University can well be proud to have on its campus. The members of the local chapter are representative of the national organization. Many members of the sorority are steadily gaining recognition in the field of journalism.

A college editor recently stated that "Brains and personality were essential to beauty." If this is the case we know a FEW girls who are automatically eliminated. Not, however, on account of their lack of beauty.

A GREAT HOMECOMING

On Turkey Day the Tennessee Vols will come north once more to match prowess on the field of gridiron supremacy with the Wildcats of Kentucky. This event will herald the homecoming for thousands of University graduates, who are eager to see the Wildcats again tumble Tennessee from its vaunted place at the top of Southern Conference teams.

Tennessee will also, be here in force hoping for another Volunteer victory over Gamage's smooth running machine. The game will be a sellout. "Daddy" Boies sent one thousand additional tickets to Knoxville Monday. All the seats in the south side of the stadium have been sold and only a very few remain on the north.

Bleachers will be erected at both ends of the field to take care of the over-flow crowd. Possibly fifteen thousand people will view this great struggle of southern gridiron giants. All in all it will be a great day for the Blue Grass to display its hospitality in extending hearty welcome to the clan from the hills of Tennessee. Needless to say, we're depending on the Wildcats to give us another homecoming victory.

ENGINEER ASSEMBLY SPEAKERS

The regular weekly convocation of the College of Engineering, which is held the third hour each Wednesday morning is bringing speakers worthy of note to the University.

Dean F. Paul Anderson is to be commended upon the calibre of the speakers selected for these convocations. Not only do the members of the College of Engineering benefit by these convocations, but also members of other colleges who find time to attend the convocations. They realize returns on the time which they spend in the assembly.

These weekly meetings have brought such speakers as ex-governor Edwin P. Morrow, Colonel Charles Morrow, Dr. M. M. Miller, translator of ancient Greek poetry and literature, and former instructor in English at Princeton, and former governor and senator A. O. Stanley. Dean Anderson is always glad for members of other colleges to attend these convocations. His is a spirit worthy of the admiration of his students and contemporaries.

A NEW SPORT

Evidently feeling that the University does not offer a great enough variety of sports, a number of persons have endeavored to sponsor a new one, by slinging bricks at the new trash cans which have been distributed over the campus.

Even though these cans do make an easy target for those not so very skillful in hitting the bulls-eye, they were not placed on the grounds for that purpose. Authorities, in an attempt to have the most orderly campus possible, have provided the trash cans.

Conserve the energy thus expended and put it to a better use. Be careful that the property of the school is not involved in the damage that may result from your acts of thoughtlessness.

At least try to put the new trash cans to the use for which they were intended.

LAW AND MORALITY

Loyalty to Traditional Standards of Moral Values Brings Emancipation

By REINHOLD NIEBUHR

What we have not learned is that law is important to establish moral discipline. Laws may on occasion add prestige to a moral standard already adopted by the public through religious, cultural, and moral influences, and the punishment which these laws provide for infraction may have a slightly different effect upon chaotic individuals. But they do not automatically or inevitably reduce the chaos in society itself.

The tragedy of our American cities, and to a certain extent of our educational centers, is that they are filled with people who have been emancipated from the traditions and inheritances of their fathers without possessing the energy or intelligence to fashion new standards and loyalties by which the chaotic forces of life might be disciplined and guided. If there is anything worse than slavish loyalty to traditional standards of moral and cultural values it is complete emancipation from them.

DREAMS

A dream is a vision of heaven or hell,
A hope to build, a threat to repel;
A heart to have, a heart to break;
A success to gain, a failure to make.
But after all a dream is a farce,
A warning to every extremest
To neither reach for the loftiest lights
Nor yet to scan the scummy deep,
But to tread the happy, human heights
And reaching the end, enjoy their sleep.

THE UPPER ROOM

At eve when all is hushed and still,
I go into the upper room
And with my Lord commune.
I kneel in prayer
And from His hand
I there receive
The living bread and wine.
For He who broke the bread
And gave it to the twelve
Nineteen hundred years ago,
Now gives the living bread—
The spirit and the truth,
To those who kneel in the upper room.

Upperclassmen at Washington and Lee University who have "B" averages are entitled to unlimited cuts from classes. I wonder if we will ever be able to cut classes with impunity.

Kappa Alpha Psi, a negro fraternity at the University of Indiana, holds the scholarship cup at that institution. This offers no comfort for the believer in white supremacy!

Next week will be one of the most brilliant theatrical periods in Lexington history. The stock company will offer the outstanding play of recent years and the three principal motion picture houses have attractions of tremendous significance. A lover of the painted world will almost be forced to attend all four of the presentations.

—TLR—
This week's rialto had an extra attraction in the radio show at the Woodland Auditorium. The entertainment offered was not of the highest calibre but the affair was different and I, for one, enjoyed it.

—TLR—
What I consider the most ambitious attempt of any stock company ever to play this city is "The Trial of Mary Dugan," next week's offering of the Alney Alba Players at the Opera house. This play has every angle of absorbing entertainment. The scene is laid in a court room and the curtain never descends until the very end of the drama. The role of Mary Dugan is one of the greatest ever written as far as emotional value is concerned and the plot is packed with thrills. The cast numbers about forty people. You may even recognize one of the players as this writer which would be a pity. However, you should, by all means, see "The Trial of Mary Dugan." It is undoubtedly greater on the stage than on the screen.

Now don't tell me you haven't heard of "The Hollywood Revue." Everybody, movie fan or no, knows something about this M-G-M picture. "The Hollywood Revue" has a list of stars that resemble a benefit performance of some kind and by (Continued on Page Eight)

All in a day's work for telephone men

A specimen of construction work in the Bell System is the new catenary span carrying telephone wires across the Gila River, Arizona. The "natural" obstacle is no longer an obstacle while there are telephone men to find a way through it or over it.

This is but one example in a general expansion program. Others are such widely varied projects as linking New York to Atlanta by cable, erecting 200 telephone buildings in 1929, developing a $15,000,000 factory at Baltimore.

The telephone habit is growing apace, and the Bell System will continue to keep a step ahead of the needs of the nation.

SQUIRREL FOOD

By MARTIN R. GLENN

The harvest is over and the note at the bank has been extended. The Thanksgiving season of fun, festivity and feast will soon be upon us and many will wander back home to partake of mother's cooking and hear dad say grace.

There on the village square we'll see the Squire's yellow dog lying in the dead grass between the decaying watermelon rinds; we'll see the delivery boy with the roan horse drive up and whistle his way to the back door with the butter and kerosene in the same hand; we'll see the village doctor stop at the town well, sink the bucket down into its depths and, as he holds back his beard with one hand, drink long and deep from the brim that forms a mixture of slime, whiskers and well-water microbes that the highbrows of his profession insist lurk in such places. Oh, well, there won't be much change in the old town after all. The boy who graduated when he was sixteen and won fame as the high school orator, will be driving a delivery wagon for the "Family Grocery," while the wet-nosed kid who played truant and went fishing on Sunday will be the president of the bank, president of the school board, mayor of the village and a deacon in the Presbyterian church.

Some time ago the president of the SuKy Circle became extremely temperamental and forwarded to the Kernel an angry epistle in which he stated that "The SuKy Circle has sponsored, among other things, the pep meetings of the University ever since the Circle was organized." Thanks for this enlightening bit of information, Mr. President; for a long time we have been wondering just who was the perpetrator of these atrocities. The student body wonders if you still take pride in announcing this fact to the cock-eyed world after the patrid rally that your organization presented at the Kentucky Theater last Friday week. If the program was intended as a pre-view of "Local Color," which will be an attraction at the Guignol theatre next month, then we must reiterate the famous words of Moran and Mack to the effect that we had rather not hear any more about it.

It is rather difficult to think of anything humorous for this week's column after the crushing defeat that the Crimson Tide handed the Wildcats last Saturday. What was expected to have been one of the largest Saturday night brawls ever witnessed in Lexington turned into the quietest and most peaceful "bath night" that the municipality has experienced this year. That Alabama outclassed Kentucky in every phase of the game was evidenced by the grim faces and melancholy stares that predominated in the vicinity of the Phoenix hotel.

All were resigned to silently submit to the inflicted disgrace, however, when some fish-eyed freshman began broadcasting the startling news that he had it all doped out that Kentucky will beat Alabama next year. Thereupon a score of indignant seniors, who have been listening to the same bed-time story for the past four years, seized the unsuspecting under-classman with force and arms and flushed him in the nearest sewer.

This year's initial number of the Kampus Kat will be released on Thanksgiving day. It will be of especial interest to all glorious guzzlers, woozy warblers, rakes, scallawags, and other good people who yearn to feast on campus corruption. Law suits containing counts of libel, slander, and invasion of rights of privacy will be as thick as an Eskimo's underwear. The plaintiffs may throw ye editorial staff for a considerable loss in physical combat but just let them try and collect pecuniary damages. It would represent as much wasted energy as another State-Centre football exhibition.

A bachelor is a guy who never had an automobile when he was young.

A wedding is where the groom begins kissing the bride and the other fellows stop.

This 5,000 h. p. motor in the Columbia Steel Company's plant, with its frame of arc-welded steel, is physically the largest synchronous motor ever built.

*Ninety days to go—
teamwork wins*

While you Seniors were shuffling worries about machine stresses and saturation curves with those of football last fall, a group of your predecessors, not so many years ahead of you, were playing the game with grim realities.

The Columbia Steel Company of Pittsburg, California, completed plans on September 12th to build a new tinplate plant. On the 13th they gave an order to Westinghouse for two 5,000 horsepower synchronous motors to drive the rolls, to be physically the largest synchronous motors ever built. Delivery of the first was wanted in ninety days.

Ninety days in which to design, manufacture, assemble, test and ship any large unit, let alone a new achievement in size and type of construction, affords no time for idle speculation. Westinghouse men went at the job as only an experienced and thoroughly equipped organization could do. And on the scheduled date, four flat cars and a box car rolled out of the Westinghouse plant, carrying the completed and tested motor.

It was an industrial victory, as satisfying as any athletic gain. Teamwork and individual skill had won. Westinghouse had once more made good and upheld the reputation that earns the big electrical jobs for Westinghouse men.

The first and second teams for the Conference will be selected according to the number of votes received. These selections will be made following the Thanksgiving games and will appear in the Kernel.

ALABAMA 24, KENTUCKY 13

In the Kernel's code of sports, if there be such, you either win or lose—there is no reason. To "carry the message to Garcia," to produce or not produce, that is the question. Alabama beat Kentucky. Nothing the Main street psychologists say in their daily debates will ever effect the final score or its effect on the Southern Conference standings for 1929. However, with the Crimson Tide playing on Stoll Field in 1930, we believe that the seven-year slogan, "Wait 'till next year!" will end with Coach Wallace Wade swallowing his boast that Kentucky would never defeat Alabama while he presided as coach.

We can but express our regrets that the football game scheduled between the Kentucky Kittens and the Centre College Looles on Stoll Field this afternoon was cancelled by Centre College, after the Colonel varsity was dropped from Kentucky's schedule for 1930. There was once a man who cut off his nose to spite his face.

The showing of the Wildcats in their games this year has resulted in the first national recognition ever awarded Kentucky. Streamer stories in the New York Times, consideration of Kentucky as one of the strongest teams in the South, and an invite to play a post-season game in Los Angeles, on Christmas Day, against the undefeated St. Mary's College team, need no explanations. Fordham's request for a place on Kentucky's football schedule next year was a compliment of recognition.

From all indications it appears that Pittsburg will be extended the invitation to play in the Tournament of Roses at the Pasadena Rose Bowl, New Years Day.

In the first meeting of Yale and Princeton in 1873, the ball burst and the game was delayed a half hour, while some one went for a new one. In the game of 1876, a dispute arose over the legality of one of Walter Camp's lateral passes. The referee settled the matter by tossing a coin. Yale called the turn and got the touchdown. In the same game, a Yale man made a long run and had almost reached Princeton's goal line when he was tackled and fumbled the ball. A Princeton man recovered it and traversed almost the length of the field when he was overtaken by Hatch of Yale, who wrested the ball away from him and returned it almost to Princeton's goal line.

Any courtesy shown by Kentucky students to the Centre football team on Stoll Field in the golden jubilee renewal with Transylvania tomorrow afternoon, would show a commendable spirit in view of the recent antagonistic relationship of the two schools. Any show of poor sportsmanship on the part of Kentucky while the Colonels are playing in our backyard, would show the lack of that which goes into the making of a Kentucky gentleman.

Somebody is due to bow out of the Southern Conference running tomorrow when Tennessee and Vanderbilt lock horns. A victory for Tennessee would make the Kentucky homecoming all the more interesting. And when Kentucky beats Tennessee by 12 points, we might forget Alabama for the moment.

Intramural Sports

CROSS-COUNTRY

John Thorn, former freshman track star running under the colors of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity, captured the annual fall intra-mural cross-country run staged last Saturday afternoon from a field of fifty-five starters. He covered the distance of slightly less than two miles in the excellent time of 9:55, finishing fifty years in front of Maddox, Pi Kappa freshman, who had set the pace most of the way.

An independent team composed of H. W. Baker, Roder, Evans, Nesbitt, and W. W. Baker was the first team to finish, registering 52 points. The Delta Tau Delta team composed of Thorn, Miner, Shropshire, Chapman, and Smith was the first fraternity team when the totals were compiled. The Deltas tallied 72 points, nosing out the Sigma Chi team, which had a total of 73.

The race, held between halves of the Freshman-Louisville game, began on Stoll field and ended in the same place. The runners ran a mile on the cinder track then continued across the campus for the rest of the distance.

Intra-mural Director Sid Robinson was well pleased with the showing of many of the contestants. For five weeks he has been conducting an intensive training in preparation for this event and was rewarded by excellent performances on the part of a number of men who revealed much varsity material. Much credit for the success of the run is due to Norris Wilson, intra-mural manager, who has devoted long hours to the sport during the training period. Wilson gave much valuable assistance to Mr. Robinson and the men who worked out daily over the course.

The order of the finish:
1. Thorn, Delta Tau.

Daugherty and Gall, Delta Chi defeated Warren and Russell, S. A. E. for the horseshoe doubles crown last Monday afternoon, by the scores of 21-3 21-3.

In the singles tourney, Rosa, Kappa Sig, plays Ewing, Pi K. A., for the right to meet Revell, Sigma Beta Xi, in the semi-finals. Knight, Delta Tau Delta, will meet the winner of the Hill-Allen match to represent the lower bracket in the finals.

TENNIS

Inclement weather during the last few weeks has held up the completion of the tennis tournament. The final matches in both the singles and doubles are yet to be played. Crimson Tide Wrecks Title Hopes of Kentuckians, 24-13

Rushing over the Big Blue team from the University of Kentucky by a score of 24-13, a rejuvenated Crimson Tide put another club with championship hopes back into the Southern Conference shadows.

Kentucky, rated on a par with Alabama for the first time since the two teams began their series, disappointed the home folks after jumping into a lead which they held throughout three quarters of the game. The last period found the 'Cats weakened by the hard plunging and charging of the scrappy Crimson and the Blue defense crumbled to lose the game.

Bama scored first when big "Tony" Holm returned the opening kickoff 86 yards to put the ball deep in Kentucky territory. The touchdown came a few minutes later. The first 'Cat score resulted from an intercepted pass by Richards who placed the oval eight yards from the goal and Spicer went over in three plays. The Gamagemen pulled out in the lead soon when a blocked Alabama punt rolled back behind the goal and Williams, alert center, cornered it for a marker Covington then place-kicked the extra point.

Aided by long passes and consistent line plunging, Bama scored again, but the try for extra point failed and Kentucky held a narrow margin until the final stanza. Long gains by Suther and Holm put the Tide in front with another marker. And the shattered Blue hopes were definitely blasted when Vines intercepted a Wildcat pass near the Kentuckian's own game and scored a moment later.

Alabama rose to its greatest hour.

height to give Kentucky a death blow and it is very improbable that even "Shipwreck" Kelly's presence in the 'Cats lineup would have altered the score very much.

Louisville Freshmen Defeated By Kittens

Backfield Stars Run Wild As Pribble Proteges Clinch Title

While the varsity was suffering at the hands of Alabama, Coach Birkett Pribble and his team of yearling Kentuckians were walloping the freshman representatives from the University of Louisville by a score of 38 to 0. This was the third consecutive victory in as many starts for the Kittens and practically clinches for them the first-year grid title of the state.

The Big Green was always superior and the result of the issue was never in doubt, after the first few minutes. Scoring at will, the Kittens ran up their total with ease, while the little Cardinals never seriously threatened the Green goal line. A completed pass in the last canto put the Falls City boys on the 26-yard line, but that is as near as they ever came.

The entire frosh backfield, lead by their brilliant captain, Ellis Johnson at quarterback, functioned perfectly and lived up to all pre-game predictions. The outstanding feature of the contest, other than the consistent yardage accumulation by Johnson, was an 85-yard punt return for touchdown by Woodridge early in the game. Practically every member of the Big Green squad saw action during the workout and much future varsity material was evident.

Several hundred spectators occupied the temporary bleachers at the practice field, where the battle was waged. During the half, the intra-mural cross-country race was run. John Thorn, a sophomore, won the two-mile event in handy fashion turning in the excellent time of 9:55.

DUKE SCHEDULED FOR GAME IN 1930

Contest Will Be Played In Durham; 'Cats Considered for Post Season Game With St. Mary's in Los Angeles

The 1930 football schedule is rapidly nearing completion, according to announcements from the office of "Daddy" Boies athletic director of the University. The most recently carded game is with the Blue Devils of Duke University to be played on November 8, 1930.

Duke is the baby member of the conference but always puts a strong team on the field. This season, the Devils have won their only conference game, devoting most of their time to such non-conference foes as Pitt, Boston, and Navy. Kentucky will journey to Durham, North Carolina, for the contest with a return game scheduled here in 1931.

The grid card has begun to take shape with games already arranged with Alabama, Duke, Tennessee, and Virginia. V. M. I. is also practically assured a place on the Wildcat list. Other teams that have been negotiating with Kentucky for games next fall are Ohio State, Fordham, and West Virginia.

As a closing event of the present season, the Wildcats are being considered for a game on Christmas against St. Mary's to be played in Los Angeles. "Daddy" Boies received a telegram from the American Legion of which is trying to promote a game for the Californians with some southern team. According to Coach Gamage this trip will be seriously considered if the Wildcats win their two remaining games and satisfactory financial arrangements can be made.

PRIBBLE POINTS FROSH FOR RATS

Big Green Will Not Perform Again Until November 30; Game With Morehead Fails To Materialize

Coach Pribble's Freshman team is marking time until November 30, when the Kittens play the Rats of the University of Tennessee at the Shields-Watkins Stadium, Knoxville.

A game with Morehead Normal, to take the place of the cancelled Centre game failed to materialize. Coach Pribble was informed Tuesday, by the athletic authorities that they would be unable to displace the team that already occupied the November 16 date on their schedule.

The cancellation of the Centre game will not have any effect on the state title since the Pribbles have already clinched it by decisive victories over Georgetown, Wesleyan, and Louisville, the outstanding Frosh aggregations of the state. The Panther Cubs' defeat of the Centre Lootes by the score of 7 to 0, and the defeat of the former team by the Kittens killed any claim the Lieutenants might have held toward this end.

Coach Pribble shares with many ardent Wildcat supporters, the opinion that the University of Kentucky possesses the best freshman team that ever represented the institution and that they would easily have copped the southern championship in that division had their schedule been a representative one among the other colleges and universities of the south. However, any ambitions which the Kittens possess along this line will be put to the test when they meet the Tennessee yearlings on November 30. Although the Kittens are to be inactive as far as preparation for a game this week-end is concerned, they are busy polishing up the claws of their big brothers, for the coming tilt with V. M. I. and Tennessee. The Frosh are doing a little polishing of their own account and are determined to wipe out the memory of the 28 to 0 defeat handed them by Paul Heydrick and Company of last year's Tennessee freshman team.

resistance. The secondary echelon is protected by Carey Spicer, directing influence of the offense, Captain Covington, "Shipwreck" Kelly, halfbacks, and the old warhorse, Tom Phipps, at fullback. The Squadron, abetted by much new aerial equipment is fully prepared for the contest. The Cadet front line is an aggressive, hard-charging outfit that will give the Shively-built wall something to worry about. On the flanks are two capable ends, Tommy Scott and Moody, well-versed in the Cadet air attack. This may mean something to Kentucky in view of the devastation wrought by the Tide through the atmosphere last week. The backfield derives its driving power and heavy artillery fire from Captain Al Hawkins, successor of the versatile Ab Barnes, who in his time caused many gray hairs among Blue Grass fans.

Open hostilities between Kentucky and V. M. I. began back in 1892, when the Cadets entertained the Wildcats in Charleston, W. Va. This skirmish resulted in a 34 to 0 victory for the Virginians. The two teams did not meet again until 1912; the "Cats" prior to that year confined their militaristic activities to Kentucky Military Institute. The score of this game was 3 to 2 in favor of the soldiers. Athletic relations were then dropped until 1921 when "Indian Bill" Juneau, then Kentucky mentor, played the Squadron in Louisville and won by a score of 14 to 7. In 1924, the duels were resumed. Coach Fred Murphy and his boys lost the decision, 10 to 0, but gained revenge the following season with a 7 to 0 margin. The Cadets won their last victory over Kentucky in 1926 by a narrow 10 to 9 count. The Gamage regime produced a 25 to 0 white wash the next fall and a 19 to 6 triumph in the last meeting.

So that's how the stage is set for Saturday, Kentucky and V. M. I. even up in the number of games won, four each, and a conference rating hanging in the balance. May the best team win.
